HER FIRST TRIP HOME

The Remains of Mrs. Ruby Bigham Threlkeld, Bride of a Year Brought to Chapel Hill.

A letter was received last week by relatives telling of the serious illness of Mrs. Reed Threlkeld at Manilla, Ark., where she and her young husband full of hope, had located only a few months ago. The letter was scarcely read before a telegram came, in which it was stated that an operation might save her. Relatives and friends taken by surprise were shocked as the news of her illness had not been generally circulated, and they anxiously awaited news of her improvement. Their hopes were rudely dashed to the earth Saturday when the sad message came telling her loved ones here that she was no more and that in order to carry out her wish that she be buried at Chapel Hill cemetery, near the little church which she loved so well, the start homeward would be made at 3 o'clock that day.

The remains accompanied by the stricken husband and his brother Elmer reached Crayne at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and were taken to the home of her sister Mrs. Wm. W. Ward at Crayne, from whence the funeral took place Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, at Chapel Hill church Rev. A. J. Thompson officiating, the interment taking place immediately afterward in the Chapel Hill cemetery.

A large congregation assembled to pay the last tribute of love and respect to the departed, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Redford Yates, of Marion, who sang a beautiful duet. There were some beautiful floral offerings. There were many sad hearts who shed bitter tears as the memory of the bonny bride of twelve short months ago came into their minds.

Ruby (William Bigham was born July 20, 1887, professed faith in Christ and joined Chapel Hill church Oct. 20, 1905. Married to Reed Threlkeld Wednesday evening Jan. 7th, 1914. Died Friday night at ten o'clock Jan. 8th, 1915, a year and a day after her marriage. Age 27 years, 5 months and 19 days. She was the youngest child of Wm. Harrison Bigham and his wife Frances Asbridge, the former of whom survives. Her mother died about 12 years ago. 2 brothers, Eura H. and J. Tilford and two sisters, Ada, wife of Wm. W. Ward and Addie, wife of James N. Hill, all of this county, survive her.

Lula Jane Tabor, daughter of J. Henry and Arminta Jane (Cox) Tabor, of Mullikan died at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Farley four miles east of Marion on the Morganfield road, Thursday night Jan. 7th 1915, at six o'clock.

Nov. 11th, 1895 was the date of her birth. She was born in Caldwell county and is survived by one brother J. W. Tabor, of Wheatcroft, Ky. The interment took place Friday afternoon two o'clock at the new Marion Cemetery.

CHERRY FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Bowling Green Educator Declares Candidacy For Democratic Nomination.

Prof. H. H. Cherry, president of the Western State Normal School, has decided to make the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor, and his formal announcement is now being prepared and will be issued in the Record-Press soon.

Prof. Cherry was in Louisville Saturday and, after a conference with his close friends and managers of his boom, stated to them that he was in the race to the finish. He will resign his place as president of the Normal School at once.

Art Studio In The "Busy Bee Block."

Miss Jeanette Waggoner of Martin, Tennessee has opened an art studio in the "Busy Bee Block" next to Dr. F. W. Nunn's office and next door to the Cumberland telephone office.

She has been teaching four years in her home town, Martin, studied with Anna Wheeler Jones two years in Nashville and with Minnie Sattinger Nashville, also spent last year with L. Pearl Saunders director of school of applied design in Chicago.

Miss Waggoner comes well recommended and is a young woman of refined and pleasing address who will make friends here among our people. She has quite a number of pupils enlisted already.

THE PROPOSITION IN A NUT SHELL

Road Working Explained by John S. Lawrence, So He Who Runs May Read and Understand

John S. Lawrence, editor of the Cadiz Record, has been doing a little figuring as to Kentucky's road laws and their possible application to the county of Trigg. Under the caption, "What says Our Fiscal Court?" he submits the result in the following editorial:

"Trigg county will pay something like $2,000 into the general road fund of the State, and is our Fiscal Court going to sit quietly by and let this money get away from us and get nothing in return? Quite a number of the counties have already made applications for 'State aid' from this fund, and unless we get busy we are going to be left out in the cold and be short this $2,000 besides."

"Why not appropriate $2,500 for this purpose upon the condition that it will be spent upon the first road in the county whose citizens will agree to supplement this with $2,500 more, which will make $5,000; then the State will give you $5,000 more to go with this? This can be done easily, and is there a business man in Trigg county who wouldn't gladly put $2,500 for a deal, even he had to borrow every cent of it? Certainly there is not a one. Then are the members of our Fiscal Court going to admit that they are the poorest business in the county, and allow this $8,500 to slip away from them? We think not, but it is time they were getting busy along this line."

This is the whole proposition in a nutshell, so far as the financial end of it is concerned. Trigg county, if its Fiscal Court fails to act, will contribute $2,000 to the building of roads in other counties. If its Fiscal Court sees fit to make an appropriation of $2,500, Trigg county will have $10,000 to spend on its own roads. More than that, the people of the county can rest assured that there'll be $10,000 worth of roads from the $10,000 expended; on them, an assurance that has not always been realized in the past history of Kentucky road building. The money available from the State is contingent—first, on the action of the county or the county and its citizens in putting a dollar to meet the dollar contributed by the State; second, that contracts shall be honestly drawn and satisfactory bond given; third, that the roads, when built, shall conform to the standard and specifications laid down by the State.

If the Fiscal Court of Trigg county takes the action necessary to give that county $10,000 for the building of roads and any fault is to be found with those roads, when built, responsibility will not be divided out among a set of officeholders or attributable to local pull in the letting of contracts and the employment of incompetents. The head of the State Bureau of Roads, who is appointed by the Governor and removable by him, will have to shoulder the whole burden of failure.

The new road laws offer an incentive to counties to build roads by putting a penalty on them if they do not. At the same time it guarantees them dollar for dollar to meet

NICHOLS ANSWERS JUDGE J. F. GORDON

By Giving Mr. J. P. Lane's Letter Which Explains All And We Publish His Reply Below.

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 11, 1915. Judge J. F. Gordon, Madisonville, Ky.

Dear Sir: In your letter of Dec. 30, 1914, which was directed to me and which published in a number of the papers in this Appellate Court District, you said: "What I want to know now is whether this money was paid to Judge C. S. Nunn, while assisting his father. You say it was paid to hired stenographers; but your statement is, of course, only 'Hear-say,' as you do not claim to have disbursed it yourself, nor to have seen the disbursement."

You are correct in your statement that I did not disburse nor see the disbursement of the money represented by the salary checks which I endorsed and returned to Frankfort, as explained in my former letter to you, but since the receipt of your letter of Dec., 30, 1914, I have received a letter from J. P. Lane, who has personal knowledge as to how the money was disbursed, and I take pleasure in enclosing to you herewith, Mr. Lane's letter which is as follows:

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 5, 1915. Andrew M. Nichols, Esq., Attorney at Law, Paducah, Kentucky.

Dear Mr. Nichols: I have read your reply to Judge Gordon's inquiry about your salary while serving as Secretary to Judge T. J. Nunn. I have read Judge Gordon's response of date Dec., 30, 1914, and from this response it seems that Judge Gordon is unwilling to accept your statement that Judge Nunn employed a stenographer in Frankfort to do the work at the same salary you were receiving, and that you endorsed and returned to Judge Nunn all of the salary checks, because you were not doing the actual work, and in order that Judge Nunn might pay the parties who were doing it.

As I am the stenographer who was employed by Judge Nunn to do the work. I wish to say that all your statements are true in every particular. Judge Nunn paid me $100 per month. In fact my payments came at the rate of $25 per week from his own pocket, and your return salary checks at the end of each month reimbursed him.

You are at liberty to make such use of this letter as you may see proper.

Your friend,
J. P. Lane."

I am of the opinion that Mr. Lane's letter answers your inquiry in every detail, and I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,
Andrew M. Nichols.

Mrs. H. A. Cameron returned from an extended visit to her son T. J. Cameron at Alworth, Ill., Friday.

the cost of building, honest expenditure and workmanship.

The Fiscal Court of a county that fails to take advantage of this opportunity will owe the people of that county an explanation which it will be somewhat difficult to make convincing. — Louisville Times.

GREER GUILTY OF TROUTMAN MURDER

Jury Reaches Verdict and the Penalty Is Fixed At Term In Prison.

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 11.—The jury in the case of J. K. Greer, accused of willfully killing Charles Troutman, a well-known young drug clerk, to-day returned a verdict of guilty, and the penalty was fixed at from 17 to 21 years in prison.

Greer testified that he killed Troutman in self-defense and witnesses swore that Troutman had threatened Greer's life on account of Miss Pernie Shemwell clerk in Greer's office, and sweet heart of Troutman. Miss Shemwell, the only eye witness to the tragedy, when reintroduced, again charged the shooting was unprovoked.

18 to 20	804	221

An Old Veteran Still In The Field.

W. R. Gibbs has been called to Caldwell Springs church for 1915 and will preach there next Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. At which time he desires all members to be present, services also next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Gibbs was first called to Caldwell Springs 25 years ago and preached there 10 years and it is now gratifying to him to be called after an intermission of about 15 years.

Altho a quarter of a century older and afflicted with blindness Rev. Gibbs has not lost any of his zeal in the Lord's work but labor in His vineyard each day.

The Caldwell Springs congregation are to be congratulated on securing the services of this "old war horse." Rev. Gibbs is a noble and good man. Long may he survive and prosper.

BIRD, FARM DEMONSTRATOR, IS BACK

Called Meeting of Farmers Saturday, January 16th.—Come One, Come All.

The Crittenden Co. Crop Improvement Ass'n. will have a meeting in court house Sat. Jan. 16, at 1:30 p. m. All farmers are invited and requested to be present.

We are working for the betterment of our county. Without cooperation we can do nothing, with the helping hand of all we can accomplish a big work. We will put Crittenden Co. down on the map as she has never been down before. We should be proud of Crittenden Co. We will be proud to claim her as our home for we will have her reach a high mark in this Improvement League. Fayette, boasts of her fine horses, Woodford, of her blue grass, Jefferson of her potatoes, Shelby of her Jerseys. What have we for a boasting foundation? What can we say our county leads in. Friends are we going to be satisfied, just to say Crittenden county, has flour spar. Not much, we are not willing to let our neighbors go down in history while we dig spar. Now is the time to make our mark. We will make our motto mean what it says, Crittenden County Crop Improvement Association. Read it. Think it over, does this mean you, or just a few business men of Marion. Better crops, mean more fat stock, better cattle and hogs, more money, better schools, more comfort at home.

Boost one and all, as every drop swells the raging tide, so does every little help us make our county what she should be. Every farmer no matter how small, can help. Meet with us here or in your neighborhood at the school house, do what you can, it will help.—Crop Improvement Ass'n.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Crusen, of Bushnell, Ill.

BUSHNELL, ILL.—"I think all the trouble I have had since my marriage was caused by exposure when a young girl. My work has been housework of all kinds, and I have done milking in the cold and snow when I was too young to realize that it would hurt me. I have suffered very much with bearing down pains in my back and such miserable pains across me, and was very nervous and generally run down in health, but since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my back never hurts me, my nerves are stronger, and I am gaining in health every day. I thank you for the great help I have received from your medicine, and if my letter will benefit suffering women I will be glad for you to print it."—MRS. JAMES CRUSEN, Bushnell, Illinois.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HOPKINS, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—MRS. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Colds Are Often Most Serious. Stop Possible Complications.

The disregard of a cold has often brought many a regret. The fact of sneezing, coughing, or a fever should be warning enough that your system needs immediate attention. Certainly loss of sleep is most serious. It is a warning given by Nature. It is a man's duty to himself to assist by doing his part. IN MEXICO

Statements of Mexico Citizens Are Always of Interest to Our Readers.

To many of our readers the streets of Mexico are almost as familiar as those of our own town, and we are naturally interested to read of happenings there. The following report from a well-known and respected resident will be helpful to numbers of men and women here in Marion.

J. O. Tabor, Mexico, Ky., says: "I had kidney trouble for about six years. The pains in my back were severe at times and when I was stooping or lifting, sharp twinges went through my loins. My back always ached more intensely at night and in the morning, I felt very lame. I tired easily, was languid and nervous and had headaches. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and caused me annoyance. I took one and a half boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they rid me of the trouble. I am now in good health."

Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Tabor had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 1714

Cleveland George has moved to the C. E. Stallions' property, now owned by E. F. Sullenger.

Hugh Norris has rented B. B. Terry's farm, near Glendale.

Uncle Billie Love attended the masquerade meeting here Monday, Dec. 28th. Uncle Billie has a good word and a pleasant smile for everybody he meets, even when he is not a candidate.

Uncle Jimmie Wooten has been an octogenarian for quite a while, but he walked a distance of three miles Saturday eve, stayed all night at J. B. Wilson's and walked back home on Sunday. Uncle Jimmie attends church regular, goes to see the sick and bids fair to see many more New Years.

Quite a few horses and cattle have died in this vicinity, cause unknown, but thought to be the stalk fields.

Our school is progressing nicely with Miss Fleta Larue as teacher.

Clarence Wilson has moved to the river bottoms, as he will work for C. E. Donakey this year.

LIV-VER-LAX

Acts Surely, Safely

Just because you are feeling the ill effects of a torpid liver is no excuse for buying a harmful medicine that has brought physical decay to thousands. Calomel is dangerous and as everyone knows has very disagreeable and weakening after effects. Medical science has found a natural, vegetable remedy, GRIGSBY'S LIV-VER-LAX that thoroughly cleanses the liver and bowels without causing any bad feelings. Children can take it with perfect safety. Guy Patton made a flying trip to Mexico Sunday.

The backwater is covering the low land in this vicinity.

I will send a little arithmetical puzzle that might interest someone to figure out. A woman carrying a basket of apples, was met by three boys, the first of whom bought half of what she had, and then gave her back ten; the second boy bought a third of what remained, and gave her back two; and the third bought half of what she now had left, and returned her one, after which she found that she had twelve apples remaining. What number had she at first? Some one answer.

Willie Clark, of Marion, visited relatives here last week.

Robt. Guess is still in poor health.

Jim Guess has his house nearly completed.

How we did miss the Record-Press last week.

Getting wood and making fires has been very good employment for the past month.

REMOVAL

I have removed my Grocery Stock to the Opera House block to the store room formerly occupied by H. Koltinsky, and will have a complete and fresh stock of goods on hand at all times and will appreciate your patronage.

Being in a more central location I feel that I can better supply my customers, and will be glad to see all of them at my new location.

Thanking all for past favors and with the seasons greeting, I wish to remain your friend,

In American measurements the 42 centimeter German gun has a bore of a trifle over sixteen and one half inches. A meter is 39.37 inches and there are 100 centimeters in a meter.

KENTUCKY WOMAN, SUFFERED FROM STOMACH ILLS, QUICKLY RESTORED

Mrs. Belle Hawkins Uses Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy—“Never Felt Better in My Life.”

Mrs. Belle Hawkins, Eminence, Ky., was a victim of stomach disorders. She took a great deal of treatment and medical attention.

At last she tried Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and got real results. In a letter telling of her experience she said: "I have taken all the medicine I ordered of you and will say it has done more good than all the doctors and medicine I ever tried. I don't really think I need any medicine now, as I think I am well. I never felt better in my life. If I ever should need any medicine I know where to get it." That is a typical letter, taken in one among the thousands from the users of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. The first dose proves—no long treatment.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure it has saved their lives.

We want all people who have chronic stomach trouble or constipation, no matter of how long standing, to try one dose of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy—one dose will convince you. This is the medicine so many of our people have been taking with surprising results. The most thorough system cleanser we ever sold. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is now sold here by Haynes & Taylor and druggists everywhere.

THINGS ALL WORTH TO KNOW

As Christian Bible Students—The Satisfactory Proof of "Why God Permits Evil"

One of the questions which comes to nearly every thinking mind today is, "Why does God permit evil?" As we look about us in the world we observe that it is filled with sorrow and trouble, sickness and pain and every trial we can imagine, and we cannot help wondering WHY GOD ALLOWS IT. We realize that He is almighty and that He could prevent it if He wished. We read in His Word that He is more willing to do for His children than are earthly parents for theirs, and we know how much that means; yet oftentimes it seems that those who try to do and live right have the most trouble. This question is made very clear in a book entitled, "The Divine Plan of the Ages." Every statement is backed by Scripture, and shows that while God does not sanction evil HE HAS HAD A PURPOSE IN ALLOWING SIN AND DEATH TO REIGN THESE SIX THOUSAND YEARS. This and many other subjects of deep interest to all of God's people are discussed fully and in language easy of comprehension.

In English, German, Swedish, Danish, Norwegian, Italian, French, Greek, Hungarian, Spanish, Polish, Hollandish, Finnish, (Syriae and Turko Armenian in preparation.)

(delayed from last week.)

HOLIDAY VISITORS:

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hatcher and Miss Ruby Flannery spent Christmas day at the home of W. T. Terry, near Forest Grove.

R. C. Moore, wife and son, R. C. Jr., of near Crittenden Springs, Miss Ruby Moore, brother, Richard and sister, Anna, were guests of R. D. Moore Saturday, Dec. 26th.

Miss Sue Moore was accompanied home by Miss Etta Boisture and two brothers, Roy and Man, of Lillydale.

Miss Mary Moore was also at home a few days.

Lumnie Clark and wife spent Xmas in Marion guests of relatives.

Mr. George, of Princeton, visited relatives(?) in this neighborhood during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stephenson, of Tolu, were guests of their daughter, Mrs. F. M. Jacobs.

Elbert Minner, of Henning, Tenn., who left this neighborhood fourteen years ago with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Minner, was the guest of relatives and friends a few days recently.

Howard Hurley and sister, Miss Mary, spent Xmas with their sister, Mrs. Kelley LaRue, near Deer Creek.

We understand that all who have telephones on the Tolu exchange—in this neighborhood—have had them taken out on account of a raise in the price.

T. E. and G. P. Griffith, Miss Mary Moore and J. H. Moore, each had a horse to die since our last report.

Hugh Norris, of Sheridan, has moved to B. B. Terry's farm near here.

Miss Lora Johnson, who is house-keeping for her sister, Mrs. John Mac Phillips, while she and her daughter sojourn in Florida, attended the pound supper at J. H. Moore's Dec. 31st, and was the guest of Misses Cora and Rose Moore.

Our school will close Jan. 23rd, provided there is no more time missed. We hear that Mr. Davidson is pleasing the patrons.

Hey, there, what has become of the Oak Hall scribe?

It is reported that hogs are dying of cholera in a nearby neighborhood.

Nineteen hundred and fourteen is past and 1915 has arrived. What did we do the past year to help people to be better? How will our influence be? It's too late now if it is not for good, but with the New Year let us be more thoughtful of the pleasures of others and not quite so much about self.

Uncle Bob Moore has been very poorly with cold.

Our Sunday School retained the officers and teachers of last year, at the election Dec. 27th.

Letter From Nowata, Okla.

Mr. S. M. Jenkins, Marion, Ky.
My Dear Sir:

You will find enclosed check to renew my subscription to your paper.

I am here in what is known as the mill continent oil field, in Nowata county, there is more than fifteen thousand pumping wells, and about three thousand producing gas wells, wells in this section produce as high as eight thousand barrels of oil in 24 hours. Gas wells as high as 50,000 ft of gas per day. Oil now worth about 55 cts. per bbl. gas 3 cts. per thousand.

Leases sell from $2.00 to $1000 per acre, according to how far from producing wells. Plenty of good ones yet open.

Yours respectfully,

H. O. Radeiff.

ELM GROVE.

Having seen nothing from our neighborhood for a long time, we thought we would send you a line or two.

Our school is progressing nicely with Mr. Frank Travis at the helm. Everyone seems to be well pleased with Mr. Travis and would be glad to have him with us again.

Several farmers of this section have been losing their stock. Among them are S. L. Shelby and R. R. Shelby, each lost a mare, also Hayden Grissom, a horse which was supposed to have had blind staggers.

Miss Ida and Nannie Holloman of near Seven Springs, were the guests of their sister Mrs. Addie Davis, one day last week.

Miss Evangeline Grissom is spending the winter with her aunt, Mrs. T. E. Keller, and is attending school at this place.

Rev. J. C. Lingsolving and wife of the Emma section passed through this neighborhood last Friday enroute to Seven Springs to visit friends and relatives.

Mrs. Hodges, of Lyon county, is spending the winter months with her grand daughter, Miss Effie Davis.

Mr. Ordry Brasher has purchased a fine farm from Mr. H. H. Chambliss recently.

Mr. F. W. Davis visited Mr. Herschel Wring and family, of Francis Sunday.

Mr. Elbert Cook, of Cairo, Ill. is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook this week. Elbert, we are glad to see you again.

Mr. John Clark of near Pinckneyville, who is agent for sorgham molasses, was a pleasant caller in this section Saturday.

Mr. T. M. Doom and wife, and little son Rabren, of Seven Springs visited his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Doom Sunday.

Miss Nettie Riley visited Mrs. Ada Asbridge Friday.

Rev. R. A. LaRue filled his regular appointment at Pinckneyville church Sunday. Several from this place attended. Bro. LaRue has been called to serve the church as pastor for the year 1915.

Mr. Charlie McClure and family is moving from his brother Willie's farm to the Cox place near Carrsville.

Mr. Rhonie Asbridge of seven Springs was in this section last week trying to trade hogs.

Mr. Jim Simpkins passed through this section last Friday "Uncle Jim" we are glad to see you in our midst again.

Letter From Texas.

Mr. S. M. Jenkins, Dear Sir: Enclosed please find one dollar for which send the Crittenden Record-Press another year and that will be 38 years I have been reading the Press.

I will try to say a little along with Bro. S. T. Terry, I too was converted at Hurricane and Bro. J. T. Yates was conducting a meeting, and I can say I never shall forget the day when Jesus washed my sins away, and that was the first Monday in August, 1866, and the brother spoke of several places that some were at, that had been converted at Hurricane but failed to mention Texas. But at least there is one hear, and I can say I would to God we had some such brother and sister nowadays; but Alas! they have past and it seems that old time religion has gone with them; but I thank God I feel like saying glory to God when I think of those old times.—J. How To Give Quinine To Children.

FEBRILIN is the trade mark name given to an improved Quinine. It is a Tasteless Syrup, pleasant to take and does not disturb the stomach. Children take it and never know it is Quinine. Also especially adapted to adults who cannot take ordinary Quinine. Does not nauseate or cause nervousness or ringing in the head. Try it the next time you need Quinine for any purpose. Ask for 5-cent original package. The name FEBRILIN is blown in bottle. 25 cents.

Card Of Thanks.

We wish to thank our kind friends and neighbors for the kindness shown us through the sickness and death of our beloved father, Asa Belt. May God's richest blessings be with them forever, is our prayer.—The children.

HON. ED YOUNG

Of Madisonville Spent Wednesday
In Princeton.

Hon. Ed Young, of Madisonville, spent Wednesday in the city, in the interest of his candidacy for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney of this, the Fourth Judicial district. Mr. Young is one of the leading and popular members of the Madisonville bar, having been engaged in the practice of law for nine years, and is also one of the publishers of the Madisonville Hustler. He is a clever, high-toned gentleman, and a splendid mixer. He is a grandson of Martin Young who lived in this county for many years. He has many relatives in this county. The only office he ever held was that of Representative, being a member of the 1912 session of the Legislature, and was chairman of the caucus which nominated Claud Terrell for the speaker of the House. He says he is in the race to the finish, and that he will make an active canvass of the district. While here he met quite a number of voters of the county, with whom he discussed his candidacy.—Princeton Leader. Mr. Young was here Thursday mixing with our people and made many friends here.

Story Of The '60s.

Uncle Doc Green, was a few days ago listening to some of his close friends talking of the present war and it caused the memories of the '60s to rush on his mind and he said, "Boys, as you all are my friends, I will tell you an actual occurrence which took place while I was in the war. It happened to our new cook. We had bought a bushel box of dried apples pressed very hard, and we ordered the cook to cook some of the apples for dinner, and he being inexperienced in cooking dried apples put the contents of the box in a large kettle and began to boil the apples. They began to swell and he saw they were going to boil over, so he got a tub, filled it, then the bu. box, and he soon had all the buckets, barrels and ect. available filled, and the apples were still boiling over. Then fear seized him, as it was a punishable offense to waste anything, so he spied a shovel, and taking it began to shovel the apples over a solid plank fence and pretty soon he heard an explosion as if the enemy was upon them, but, his fear was turned to sadness as a set of mule ears fell at his feet, the poor mule had eaten the apples that he had thrown over the fence.

Anyone wanting to know the best exercise for hogs, ask Uncle Doc.

Clarksville Don't Like

New Light system.

What's the matter with our new light system? Since our power has been supplied from the village on the southern borders of Kentucky, the service has been deplorable. Nearly every night, without warning, we find ourselves where 'Moses was when the light went out.' A few days ago every elevator in the city, all of a sudden, started running in the opposite direction, breaking up several elevators and endangering the lives of a number of people. Is it possible this new current somehow gets mixed up with the 'busthead,' which our Kentucky suburb depends on for prosperity, and stumbles and staggers under its influence? —Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle.

LAND SALE.

In Livingston County

I will on Monday the first day of February 1915, at the court house, Smithland, Ky., at about the hour of 1 o'clock p. m., sell to the highest and best bidder on a credit of six and twelve months, two tracts or parcels of land, the first tract containing 100 acres is situated on the Pinckneyville and Salem road, 2 1/2 miles from a shipping point at Pinckneyville and about 150 yards from one of the best churches in the county and in about 200 yards of one of the very best public schools in the county, daily mail, five public roads leading to same, splendidly improved, limestone soil. The second tract contains 40 acres, about 1/2 to 3/4 being cleared and the rest of same being in woods, which 40 acres is situated on the Pinckneyville and Salem road, about halfway between Pinckneyville and the above described tract. Both of above tracts are sold by order of the Livingston Circuit Court, in the settlement of the J. J. Franks estate, in the action of G. B. Taylor, Adm'r., vs. Mrs. Leona Franks and others. Anyone desiring further information call or write Gid Taylor or G. H. Rapapole, both of Salem, Ky.

The purchaser will be required to give bond on day of sale with approved security, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent, with lien reserved upon said property until all the purchase money is paid.

A Letter From New Mexico.

Jan. 12th., 1915.

Mr. S. M. Jenkins,
Marion, Ky.,

Our Dear Friend:

You will find enclosed $1.00 for the Crittenden Record Press, for 1915. As the time has come to renew our paper I will try to write a few lines to my old Crittenden friends, and tell them how we are getting a long a way out in New Mexico.

We are both well and doing well. We don't feel like we are living in Mexico this winter for we haven't had any sandstorms. It has rained all fall, till the 24th, of Dec. It snowed all day, we now have a 5 inch snow on the ground, but oh, how we will rub our eyes about March to get the sand out so we can see.

Every body that tried to do any thing made as fine a crop as I ever saw grow and they are getting a good price for feed stuff. All our neighbors left here a year ago to hunt a good place in Texas but they failed to find the fritter tree and honey tree, so they came back to try New Mexico again.

We will make proof on our claim the 29th, of January, we will be here seven years the 16 of February, is when Mr. Newcom come and bought our claim we didn't get moved till the 20th of March. Does it seem like you all have been rid of us that long? I know one thing I've lived out here long enough to rub a peck of sand out of my eyes. And swept five bushels out of the house, that does very well in seven years doesn't it.

Oh I haven't been mad in a year don't you all think I am about sanctified. Just come out and stay a month with me when the sand begin to fly in the air then you will see how good I am.

Well I promised to tell my Kentucky friends how many eggs I sold in 1914. so here we are: I sold 95.20c, worth, can any one in Kentucky beat that. If they can please write to the Press so I can see who you are and what your name is. I hear some saying hard times are coming but if they are we won't know it.

Mr. Newcom said more rain more rest and while he was resting he would be killing Jack rabbits for the chickens for they made my chickens sing some beautiful songs. I would like to know what has become of Mrs. Albert McConnell? She wrote to me for some of our pictures, I sent them to her about a month ago but have not heard any thing from her, I am afraid she's dead or left Marion. I have been better satisfied this year than I have ever been since we came out here.

I would do very well now if I could get to see the children once a year but I don't see any chance to do that, for we are too far apart. Carley is still in St. Louis, Mo., Jeffie is still in Ft. Worth, Texas, we get a letter from them every 2 weeks, they are both well and doing well so I don't grieve over them as long as they stay well. But if they get sick I would be going.

From your true friends,
E. H. and E. L. Newcom.

Letter From Illinois.

Cairo, Ill., Jan. 12th, 1915,
Mr. S. M. Jenkins,

Marion, Ky.
Editor of Record-Press:

Dear Sir:—We get the Record-Press on time; I find it up-to-date, and full of news; always glad to receive same, and to look upon its pages of news. We sure find this very valuable news to us, it is like getting a letter from home. When I see items from so many places, and letters from people I have known, and are dear to me until this day, as my father and mother are still residents of old Crittenden county, Ky., and have been over fifty-three years.

Cairo is a prosperous little city, and has about 15,000 inhabitants. In the extreme southern part of Egypt, Ill., being built between the beautiful rivers of Mississippi and Ohio, with their great concrete levees for protection.

I don't see any correspondence from here, and I'm sure items from this place would interest someone some where.

Awaiting your early reply,

I remain,

(Delayed from last week.)

We are having plenty of cold weather for the present. Will be glad to see some pretty weather going with the beautiful sunshine.

Collin Fox returned home last week where he spent Christmas.

Some one must be getting pretty careless in the way they shoot. We learned that two bullets entered the nose of Fred Merideths, one penetrating the door and barely escaped hurting some of the family.

Allie Hodge took a pleasure trip to Paducah last week.

Collin Fox was called to Paducah last week to attend to some business for the I. C. R. R. Co., and returned to his regular depot agency.

Mrs. Clara Fox and children, who visited Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Fox and family, for several days, have returned to Princeton where they will stay a few days and then return to their home in Arkansas.

We are sorry to hear of Dudley Brown's misfortune, by losing his two little children, leaving him only one little girl.

Bryan Fox killed a dog last week that was said to be mad. The dog was viciously running cattle when shot.

Nellie Brown is very low with consumption.

Mrs. J. T. Butler is quite ill at this writing. We hope she will recover at an early date.

Preaching at White Hall last Sunday but the attendance was small.

There hasn't been any tobacco sold in the community that we know of, but are expecting to see it soon. Hope we will get a good price for it as we farmer friends certainly do deserve a good price for our tobacco.

TELLE FRANKLIN GRAY AND HER COMPANY.

Miss Gray's success has been instantaneous and universal. Although still but a girl, she has gained a recognized position as a legitimate artist of high rank.

Miss Gray gave her first violin recital when ten years old, at which time she played the Mendelssohn Concerto. Even at that early age the San Francisco critics recognized her individuality.

From early childhood she has won a series of scholarships that has given her an opportunity to study under the greatest masters of the west, New York and Europe.

Miss Gray plays with a warmth of tone and a freedom of bowing that are masculine in breadth and yet with feminine charm. She is distinguished for her unconscious graciousness of manner and simplicity as much as for her merit as an artist.

Miss Florence Crawford, pianiste of this company, has remarkable ability. She rapidly won favor in New York, where she studied and played in concert, appearing several times with the Philharmonic Orchestra. She has been before the public for many years and plays with brilliancy and buoyant musical feeling. She astonishes her audiences with her strength, endurance and her manipulation of difficult and rapid passages.

Mrs. Margaret Gray always travels with her daughter. Mrs. Gray is a reader of great ability and has won success from east to west.

She is a great favorite with audiences and gives readings with music spoken songs or character delineations at the option of the local management.

Sprains, Bruises Stiff Muscles

Sloan's Liniment will save hours of suffering. For bruise or sprain it gives instant relief. It arrests inflammation and thus prevents more serious troubles developing. No need to rub it in—it acts at once, instantly relieving the pain, however severe it may be.

Here's Proof

Charles Johnson, P. O. Box 103, Lexington Station, N. Y., writes: "I sprained my ankle and dislocated my left hip by falling out of a third story window six months ago. I went on crutches for four months, then I started to use some of your Liniment, according to your directions, and I must say that it is helping me wonderfully. I threw my crutches away. Only used two bottles of your Liniment and now I am walking quite well with one cane. I never will be without Sloan's Liniment."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

Kills Pain

BRAIN LEAKS.

By F. S. LOYD

George Crider stepped into a butcher and began to price the meat.

"Well, you know sir, meats are very dear, today," said the butcher.

"Oh, then give me a pound of yesterday's steak, please," said George.

Miss Mattie Smith said, "I'd just like to see the man that I would promise to love, honor and obey."

"I'm sure you would, Mattie," said Daddy.

Albert Elder was out on the road the other day came home and said, "I saw a lot of quails following a hen up the road today."

"Yes," replied his wife.

"How do you explain it?"

"Various ways," said his wife.

"Sometimes the phenomenon is due to the fact that lots of people don't know the difference between a quail and a young Brown Leghorn."

Tom Jones said to Miss Mattie, "Are you sure I am the only man you ever really and truly loved?"

"Perfectly sure, I went over the whole list, only yesterday."

Mrs. Nora Loyd said, "Dwight, did you take cough medicine regularly at school today?"

"No'm, Anthony Hughes liked it and he gave me an apple for it."

The teacher asked Annie May Elder the other day, "What is the shape of the earth?"

"Round," said she.

"How do you know it is round?"

"Alright, it's square, then, I don't want to start any argument."

S. M. Jenkins, editor of the Record-Press, wrote "brother, don't stop your paper just because you don't agree with me in politics. The cabbage you sent us didn't agree with us, either, but we didn't drop you from our subscription list on that account."

George Stone says a woman will often say what she thinks when she says it without thinking.

Press Maxwell says a girl will not choose a book by its cover, but she will judge a man by his looks.

Uncle Duck Green says if people could live without love and money the jail would be closed and our policemen would lose their jobs.

Calvin Elder says it is no sin to be thirty years old but you will have a hard time finding an unmarried girl who is that old.

Uncle Billy Loyd says it may sound queer, but it is a fact, that the girl with the most cheek never blushes.

Alec Garner says a bad man will tell you to go to the devil, but a bad woman will lead you there.

Uncle Gus Bentley says it is hard for a man to mend his ways so the patches went show.

Newt Dollar says there are only a few sure things left. One of them is that the girls will never get their skirts so tight that they can't catch a man.

Mrs. W. T. Oakley said to Carless, "You mustn't laugh so at the table."

"I ain't laughing at the table, I'm laughing at uncle Duck."

Albert Elder was asked the other day, "You don't mean to say that this is the first you've heard of that fracas in town?"

"Absolutely," said Albert.

"Why, it's the talk of the whole town."

"Yes, but my wife is away on a visit."

A. C. Deboe and Daddy Loyd—two old men who had been old schoolmates—met the other day in town. After exchanging greetings, one of them said, "By the way old chap, what at school you used to be rather fond of music. Do you play any instrument?"

"On yes," was the reply. "I can knock thunder out a Jewsharp."

Mrs. Albert Elder said to Albert.

"If I should die I want you to promise me you want marry again within a year at least."

"Alright go ahead, I promise anything."

Joe Parr says the arrival of the first baby is an event; the arrival of the second baby is an incident; and after that, the arrivals are regarded as a habit.

Frank Clift says when a woman is so shy that she acts as if she had never spoken to a man in her life, you can almost bet that she's a widow.

Uncle Gus Bentley says the time was once, when women married for better or for worse; but now she marries him for more or less.

Oscar Hibbs, of Cairo, Ill., says when you see a couple come into a picture show, if he helps her off with her coat when they enter, and holds it for her during the show, they are single. If she hauls off her own coat and hangs it on the back of the chair, they are married.

STOP BUYING EXPENSIVE COUGH REMEDIES

Make the Best at Home

Money spent for the old style, ready-made, cough syrups in bottles holding only 2 to 24 ounces is very largely wasted, because most of them are composed principally of sugar and water. Yet you have to pay the same price as if it was all medicine. Stop wasting this money. You can make a better cough medicine at home at one-fifth the cost. Merely go to J. H. Orme's Drug Store and ask for 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schiffmann's Concentrated Expectorant. Mix this with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of boiling water, which makes a full pint (16 ounces). This new, simple, pleasant remedy is guaranteed to relieve the worst cough or cold. Also excellent for Bronchial Asthma, Bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and whooping cough. One bottle will make enough home-made cough medicine to probably last the whole family the entire winter. Children like it, it is so pleasant to take and it positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine or other narcotics as do most cough mixtures. Keep on hand in case of emergency and stop each cough before it gets a firm hold. The above druggist has been authorized to return the money in every single case where it does not give perfect satisfaction or is not found the best remedy ever used. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy under this positive guarantee.

The Women's Tonic

I took two bottles, in all, and was cured. I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women. If you suffer from pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, or other symptoms of womanly trouble, or if you merely need a tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling, try Cardui.

LEVIAS

(Delayed from last week.)

Miss Mamie Love, of Clay, returned last week for a visit to her parents.

Mrs. R. H. Moore and little daughter visited J. B. Carter's family Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Lena Franklin has returned from a visit to friends at Marion and Repton.

Elzie Gilles is here, from Clay, for a visit to his mother.

Loren Bateman is moving to Herbert Carter's farm for this year.

Miss Bessie McClure, of Marion, spent the holidays with her parents.

Mrs. L. L. Price visited J. H. Price and family Sunday.

The party at Fred Love's Saturday night was well attended and all reported a nice time.

Mrs. Roy Davidson and Mrs. C. C. Bebout entertained a few of their friends at dinner last week.

Henry Bealmer, of Sheridan, visited Mrs. J. B. Carter's poultry plant last week and bought some nice White Leg horn Stock.

Mrs. P. J. Gilles is at home after a six weeks stay with her daughter, Mrs. Jones, near Paducah, who has had a severe spell of typhoid fever.

J. H. Moore, our jolly stockman was through here buying stock last week. Everybody likes to trade with 'Knott.'

We learn that the Farmer's Union tobacco pool has been sold at four and three-fourths cents a round.

Grip Left Me With a Cough

If during the winter you had the grip and are still suffering from the after effects, now is the time to get rid of it. Peruna is your remedy.

A Very Bad Cough.

Mrs. S. J. Kountz, 1015 Bevel St., Nashville, Tenn., writes: "I have had a very bad cough nearly all my life. I have taken almost every kind of cough medicine, but none did me much good. I would have spells of coughing that I thought I would cough myself to death. I took Peruna, and last winter and this winter I have had no cough and I know that Peruna cured me."

"I was always thin and delicate, very easy to catch cold, but I am well now and enjoying good health. I feel that I owe it all to Peruna."

A Severe Case of Grip.

Mr. W. S. Brown, R. F. D. 4, Box 82, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I recommend Peruna to all sufferers of catarrh or cough. In the year of 1909 I took a severe case of the la grippe. I then took a bad cough. Everybody thought I had consumption. I had taken all kinds of cough remedies, but got no relief. 'I then decided to try Peruna. After taking five bottles my cough stopped and my catarrh was cured. Any one suffering with catarrh in any form I will advise them to take Peruna.'"

STORY OF YEAR MARKED BY SENSATIONAL EVENTS

Most Momentous Twelve Months of Modern Times Reviewed—Great European War, Mexican Troubles and Other World Happenings.

The year of our Lord, 1914, is unique in the annals of the world. It was a year which transformed it into a horror without precedent in breath and malignity in war—war which is devastating the old world and fixing its sinister impress on the new.

It came swiftly and with a terrific clash. On July 23, the Austro-Hungarian government sent an ultimatum to Serbia demanding the punishment of the persons concerned in the assassination of the Archduke Franz Ferdinand and instant suppression of all anti-Austrian propaganda in that country and giving 48 hours for consideration. The Belgrade government agreed to the Austrian demand with a single exception—that which would have empowered Austrian officials to take a leading part in the punishment of the murderers, and asked for further information on this point.

The reply was not satisfactory to Austria. It promptly declared war on Serbia and began to move troops toward the border. The Serbs began active mobilization and removed their capital from Belgrade to Nish. In the interior, instantly the eyes of all the civilized world were turned toward Russia.

The day after Austria declared war on Serbia, the Russian minister of foreign affairs advised the German ambassador that if Russia were invaded Russia would not be able to remain neutral. Great Britain proposed to Germany, France and Italy that a council should be arranged to mediate between the two disputants. Germany declined to become party to such an arrangement. The czar urged the Kaiser to use his influence with the Austrian emperor. According to the German account, the Kaiser complied with this request to the best of his ability. When he discovered, however, that mobilization was going on actively in Russia, he wired the czar that his course was making mediation impossible.

Two days later the Kaiser proclaimed martial law throughout the country and sent a twenty-four hour ultimatum to the Muscovite government demanding an instant abandonment of all war preparation. At the expiration of this ultimatum, August 1, the Kaiser gave the order for mobilization to begin. On the same day Count von Pourtales, the German ambassador at St. Petersburg, started homeward.

Meanwhile the mobilization of the entire French army was begun. Martial law was declared and, August 4, the German ambassador announced that the war between his country and France was on. England had asked both France and Germany, if they would respect the neutrality of Belgium in case of war. The former had answered in the affirmative. The latter made no direct reply, and Belgian mobilization began at once.

On August 2 a German army marched into the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, whose neutrality had been guaranteed by the powers in 1867. A day later, the German government sent a note to the Belgian government demanding passage for German troops through the country and promising ample compensation for all damage at the close of the war. This was in the form of an ultimatum and specified twelve hours as a time limit. The reply was that Belgium would defend her neutrality by force of arms if it were necessary.

Great Britain Declares War.

At this move of Germany, Great Britain began active mobilization of her forces and all the naval reserves were called out at once. War against Germany was declared on August 4, a war budget of $500,000,000 was voted, and within a few days a British force of 15,000 men had been landed in France. On August 6 Austria-Hungary declared war on Russia and her troops crossed the Russian border. The Montenegrins joined the Serbs against Austria and Russia was invaded. On August 19 the French government proclaimed war against Austria, and two days later England followed her. This was in the form of an ultimatum. Japan announced her intention to side with her British ally.

Scandinavia and Holland asserted their neutrality, but at once put all their military resources into requisition for defense. Portugal announced her intention to fulfill her treaty obligations with Great Britain, but she did not become a belligerent at once. Spain professed absolute neutrality, but began immediate mobilization of all her forces. Turkey declared for neutrality, but mobilized her army and began to advance toward Bulgaria. It was not until the last of October that she made her initial demonstration in the Balkans against Russia, Greece, as well as the minor Balkan states, was in a condition of armed expectancy. As for Italy, sworn ally of Germany and Austria in the so-called Dreikaiserbund, she took advantage of the fact that her partners were not engaged in a defensive war to remain neutral despite strong pressure from Berlin and Vienna.

At the outbreak of hostilities, a censorship which is the most effective ever known was established in all the warring countries. About all that was actually revealed was that the Kaiser's forces made their way through Belgium with a tremendous loss of men and property, the Belgian defenders of the little kingdom exhibiting a power of resistance and a stubbornness which amazed the world. The forts at Liege halted the German legions for a week. But the odds were too great. By the end of August the terrible German war machine had literally moved its way through Belgium, and by September 4 had reached a point within twenty miles of Paris, which was in active preparation for a siege. The seat of government was removed to Bordeaux. Suddenly, on September 4, the German army of the right turned eastward. Since that time, the Kaiser's forces have been retreating slowly, fighting with a persistence never before recorded in the history of modern war.

Russian mobilization by the middle of August was practically completed and the czar's armies were in rapid advance toward the German and Austrian frontiers. Great forces opposed the Slav advance and many bloody contests followed in rapid succession, until late in the autumn, the greatly outnumbered Teutonic allies began to show signs of declining offensive ability.

The Japanese confined their military operations entirely to Asia. They immediately proceeded to attack the German forces at Kiauchow, China, which were taken by assault after ten weeks' attack. Russian and Turkish fleets have been engaged in the Black sea, there has been fighting on a small scale in Egypt, and the Portuguese in Africa have made several attacks upon German colonies. Indian forces have been engaged with Turkish forces in an effort to keep the Suez Canal open.

From the first, there has been a practical deadlock in the naval situation. The British fleet sailed under sealed orders August 4, and a big naval battle in the North sea was confidently expected by the waiting world. It soon became apparent that Great Britain's purpose was to deal a fatal blow at German commerce, safeguard that of Belgium, France and its own and render the enemy's fleet inoperative by holding it in the Baltic. A week later, the port authorities of New York were notified that the Atlantic lines were unobstructed, and a few days afterward the Pacific lines were pronounced "open" to deal a fatal blow at German commerce, safeguard that of Belgium, France and its own and render the enemy's fleet inoperative by holding it in the Baltic. A week later, the port authorities of New York were notified that the Atlantic lines were unobstructed, and a few days afterward the Pacific lines were pronounced "open" to deal a fatal blow at German commerce, safeguard that of Belgium, France and its own and render the enemy's fleet inoperative by holding it in the Baltic.

By the middle of November more than four hundred war vessels and merchantmen on all sides had been captured or interned in neutral ports. The English in the Pacific and the Karlsruhe in the South Atlantic, two German raiders, preyed successfully upon allied and neutral commerce until the former was put out of action. During the past three months the Germans have destroyed a number of British cruisers by means of torpedoes. In an action off the coast of Chile, a squadron of five German warships sank the Monmouth and Good Hope with all on board. On October 27—although it was not known at the time—the British super-dreadnaught Audacious was sunk by a mine off the coast of Ireland. Shortly afterward, the British admiral declared the North sea a closed military area.

On December 8 the German cruisers Schleswig, Gneisenau, Leipzig and Niemann, under Admiral von Spee, were sunk by a British squadron under Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee, off the Falkland Islands. The German cruiser Dresden escaped, badly damaged. December 16 a German fleet bombarded the English coast towns of Hartlepool, Whitby and Scarborough, killing 22 and wounding 30 citizens and causing much property damage. Three British merchant vessels were sunk by mines laid by the bombarding fleet.

At the close of the year operations in the west seem practically at a standstill. December 17 the Germans reported a victory in Poland.

As a result of the immediate paralysis in the financial world due to the sudden embolism of the European nations, Americans abroad were subjected to great inconvenience and not a little actual hardship. Much relief was afforded the Belgian sufferers and large sums of money for their purpose were raised all over the world.

The American Red Cross sent the relief ship Red Cross to European waters, with a full equipment of physicians, nurses and supplies, on September 12.

Chaotic Conditions in Mexico.

Early in the year foreign nations began to be critical of the administration's "hands-off" Mexican policy and to insist that the job of pacifying Mexico belonged logically to the United States. Victoriano Huerta had held the provisional presidency for a year and boasted in his cups that he would hold his office longer than President Wilson would remain in the White House. Meanwhile the bandit chief Pancho Villa was steadily gaining ground in the north. The fiercest battle of the revolution, which was fought for almost two weeks, ended in victory for the rebel forces.

There was an appalling loss of life in this long continued fight, and more than four thousand fugitives crossed the Rio Grande and took refuge in American territory. Here they were cared for by the United States authorities.

On February 3 President Wilson revoked an order by his predecessor in office to put a stop to the shipment of arms and ammunition into Mexico by citizens of the United States. On April 11, President Wilson instructed Secretary Daniels to assemble an imposing naval force at Tampico, on the Mexican coast. This was in the case of the Mexican president and his military aids to salute the American flag as an essential feature of an apology for an unwarranted arrest and imprisonment of several American blackjacks who had landed on Mexican soil to obtain a supply of gasoline.

Although the episode was the result of misunderstanding, when all the parties concerned stood about equally, it was manifest that Huerta was in no mood to comply with any request of the Washington authorities, however politely and even delicately made. He refused to order the salute, and the naval demonstration followed.

Congress passed a resolution sustaining the president in the position which he had taken. On April 21 Admiral Fletcher seized the custom house at Vera Cruz. The Mexicans resisted the occupation of the custom house and the result was a fight in which 16 Americans were killed and 21 wounded. General Maes, in command of the garrison, withdrew and left the Americans in possession.

Nelson O'Ruane, the American representative, was given his passports and requested to leave the country. Brig. Gen. Frederick Funston, commander of the American forces at Vera Cruz, was ready to enter on a vigorous campaign.

Before hostilities were carried further the diplomatic representatives at Washington of Argentina, Brazil and Chile sent in to the office of the department of state a formal tender of their services as mediators. President Wilson accepted the offer, and both Huerta and Carranza accepted the proffered mediation.

The mediatory conference was held at Niagara Falls, Canada, and opened on May 30. On June 12 the conference had agreed upon a plan accepted both by President Wilson and Huerta. Then a deadlock arose over the choice for president—the American delegates declined to accept the name of any nonconstitutionalist.

Meanwhile, the constitutionalists were making unmistakable advance toward the capital. Their success was so pronounced that it was evident they would soon be in control of the government.

On July 1 the conference came to an end without definite result, and four days later Huerta was re-elected president by his partisans. On July 15 the dictator resigned the presidency and took passage for Europe, leaving the executive authority in the hands of a prominent citizen, Francisco Carbajal.

The new president and Carranza could not agree upon the surrender of the government to the victorious constitutional army, and on August 10 Carbajal resigned and the chamber of deputies dissolved. Five days later, the constitutional army entered the City of Mexico without opposition. Venustiano Carranza immediately took upon himself the office of president, although he soon announced his purpose of turning over the executive function to a provisional substitute and himself becoming a candidate.

On September 23 Villa declared war upon Carranza, the constitutionalist. The southern federalists held a meeting at Mexico City on October 4 and refused to accept their chief's resignation. At a convention of the party held at Aguas Calientes on October 14, Carranza again presented his resignation and a few days later Villa promised to support a provisional president, elected by the people. At that time, Gen. Eulalio Gutierrez was appointed by the convention, but Carranza refused to recognize him. The new president appointed Villa commander in chief of the government forces and ordered him to proceed at once against Carranza. As Villa and his followers were in the capital, Carranza and his soldiers withdrew.

On November 23 the American forces were withdrawn from Vera Cruz and soon afterward Carranza and his followers took possession of the seaport. Villa and Zapata united in support of the Gutierrez administration. The prospect of peace in the immediate future is far from encouraging.

On December 15, 3,000 United States troops were sent to Naco to stop continued firing by the Mexican factions into United States territory. The struggle between the Gutierrez administration and Carranza continued unabated.

Longest Congressional Session.

The first regular session of the Sixty-third congress was the longest since that great law-making body came into existence under the Constitution. It opened on December 15, 1914, and closed on December 15, 1915. During the past three months the Germans have destroyed a number of British cruisers by means of torpedoes. In an action off the coast of Chile, a squadron of five German warships sank the Monmouth and Good Hope with all on board. On October 27—although it was not known at the time—the British super-dreadnaught Audacious was sunk by a mine off the coast of Ireland. Shortly afterward, the British admiral declared the North sea a closed military area.

On March 5 the president delivered an address to congress in the house chamber, in which he urged the repeal of the provision in the Panama Canal act of August, 1912, exempting vessels engaged in coastwise trade from the payment of tolls. With a senate amendment to the effect that the United States relinquish no rights under treaties with Great Britain and with Panama, the tolls repeal bill became law.

On April 29 the president again addressed congress, giving the facts in the Tampico affair and asking authority to force Carranza to settle. Both houses passed the necessary measures without delay. On June 5 the three measures prominent in the president's anti-trust legislation—the creation of a trade commission, the Clayton bill, and the railroad capitalization bill—were passed, but it was not until August that the senate adopted the measure creating a federal trade commission. The Clayton antitrust bill did not become law until October.

August 4 both houses unanimously adopted an amendment to the federal reserve act, by which the secretary of the treasury was given power to issue additional currency in such amount as would be necessary to protect the business situation and avoid financial panic.

On September 4 the president once more addressed congress, pointing out the need of raising additional revenue to meet the deficit caused by the decline in imports due to the European war.

On October 24 the first regular session of the Sixty-third congress came to an end.

American Government and Politics.

On January 2 Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Houston began a series of hearings to determine where the new federal reserve banks were to be established. The federal reserve bank system went into effect on January 18. On January 19 the Washington authorities and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad officials came to an agreement by which the railroad relinquished its trolley lines, its control of the Boston and Maine, and most of its steamship lines, in order to avoid further charges of monopoly.

On January 27 the president signed an act which established a permanent civil government in the Panama Canal Zone, to go into effect April 1. A few days later he nominated Col. George W. Goethals to be first governor. On February 11 the government brought suit at Salt Lake City to compel the Southern Pacific railroad to relinquish its control of the Utah Railway.

In March government proceedings were begun against two railroads: The Interstate commerce commission accused the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road with overstatement of income and other financial irregularities, and suit was brought against the Chicago and North Western road for the same reasons.

On June 15 the president announced that he had selected twelve federal reserve districts, with their central banking cities, under the new currency law.

On June 8 the American Thread company, which was proved to be a combination of manufacturers which practically controlled the output, recalled the action contemplated by the department of justice by dissolving. In June, also, the United States supreme court affirmed the power of the Interstate commerce commission to fix rates, and held that pipe lines are common carriers and must carry products at rates fixed by the commission.

On June 15 the president announced a charge that big business interests had been trying to force congress to adjourn. He declared that he should do everything in his power to keep congress in session until the proper business legislation had been enacted.

In July the commission found that the former management of the New Haven road was criminally wasteful and negligent. President Wilson directed the attorney general, July 21, to begin civil and criminal proceedings against the New York, New Haven and Hartford road, and two days later the suit was begun in the United States district court at New York.

On the first day of August the Interstate commerce commission denied the petition of the eastern railroads for a general increase of 5 per cent in freight rates, but allowed certain increases in the middle West. On August 12 the dissolution of the International Harvester company, designated as a monopoly in restraint of trade, was ordered by the United States district court at St. Paul, Minn.

The Panama Canal was formally opened for world traffic on August 15. The steamer Ancon, belonging to the Panama railroad, passed from ocean to ocean in ten hours.

In September the railroad rate case showed increased activity. The roads east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac again petitioned the Interstate commerce commission for permission to advance freight rates 5 per cent, and the commission consented to reopen the case.

The commission granted the increase, with certain exceptions, on December 18. A delegation of railroad presidents visited President Wilson at the White House and laid before him the unsatisfactory situation which confronted American roads. The president was sympathetic, but expressed his confidence in the Interstate commerce commission to regulate the matter satisfactorily.

On September 23 Secretary McAdoo aroused great interest in banking circles by announcing his intention to withdraw government patronage and assistance from national banks known to be hoarding currency or demanding excessive interest.

In October the court dismissed all but one of the government's charges in its suit to dissolve the Atlantic steamship trust. Final argument in the suit to dissolve the Steel trust was made at Philadelphia, and the discussion of increased railroad freight rates was resumed before the Interstate commerce commission.

At the close of the session on November 2 the Democratic majority in the house of representatives was reduced from 147 to 25, although the Democratic majority in the senate was increased from 19 to 15. Constitutional amendments giving the suffrage to women were carried in Nevada and Oregon, and in California, Colorado, in Missouri the so-called "rail crew" law passed by the legislature was rejected.

Politics in Other Lands.

On January 27 Michel Oreste, president of Haiti, warned of the approach of a large body of revolutionists, and hastily and took refuge on a German cruiser.

On February 5 Oreste Zanoir was elected president of Haiti, and on the same day Jose Vicente Concha was elected president of Colombia.

Early in the year the Chinese administrative council re-established Confucianism as the state religion of the republic. At the opening of parliament February 19 King George urged mutual concessions in the Irish home rule controversy.

On March 5 the home rule bill was introduced for its third passage through the commons. On May 25 the bill passed the commons for the third time. On September 19 King George urged mutual concessions in the Irish home rule controversy.

On March 17, as the finale to a bitter political and personal controversy, the wife of the French minister of finance, M. Caillaux, shot and killed the editor of L'Espresso, Gaston Calmette. Her husband resigned his office at once and a new cabinet was formed. The trial of Mme. Caillaux resulted in her acquittal on July 28. On March 14 a treaty of peace between Turkey and Serbia was signed at Constantinople, a sequel to the Balkan war.

On May 1 the new Chinese constitution was published. It abolished the emperor and gave increased powers to the president. On May 4 Prince Alexander of Teck, Queen Mary's brother, was appointed governor-general of Canada.

On May 15 Colonel Benavides, leader of the Peruvian faction which expelled President Billinghurst, was elected provisional president. Three days later a group of senators and deputies elected Roberto Leguia provisional president. The Peruvian supreme court, however, recognized Benavides. On July 21 Ahmed Mirza, sixteen years of age, was crowned shah of Persia. On August 26 the French cabinet was reconstructed on a committee of national defense basis. Rene Viviani, Socialist, resumed the premiership.

On September 16 Turkey notified the outside world that she had done away with the arrangement whereby foreigners in that country have been exempt from local jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases and under which many special privileges have been enjoyed by citizens of other countries residing in Turkey.

Two days later a note was presented to the Turkish government by Great Britain, France, Russia and Italy, in which it was affirmed that the special rights of aliens could be abolished only by the powers that were parties to the original contract. Austria and Germany presented a separate protest.

On September 28 the Albanian senate, which had driven its recently elected ruler, "Prince William of Wied"—out of the country, chose a Turk for king—Prince Burhan-Eddin, son of the deposed Abdul Hamid of Turkey. The European powers protested, but their wishes were disregarded. On October 4, after four months' exile, Prince William returned to his armed forces, entered Albania and took possession of the government. On the day following the death of King Charles of Roumania his nephew, Ferdinand, took the oath of office as sovereign.

On October 13 a rebellion broke out near the border of German Southwest Africa, but was crushed by the loyalty of the German troops. On October 15, Arthur Balfour, British ambassador to the United States, left Washington, where he had incurred criticism by his frank views on American affairs.

Industrial Trials and Triumphs.

The Ford Motor company at the beginning of the year adopted a profit-sharing plan, which $100,000 in its first year, was distributed annually among the 25,000 wage-earners of that concern. The great South African railroad strike came to an end. On January 19 a strike of the Delaware and Hudson railroad men, as a protest against the discharge of two employees, was settled within six hours by the federal board of mediation and conciliation.

Two great labor controversies had been left over from the preceding year—one in the Michigan copper mines, which began July 23, 1913, and another in the Colorado coal fields, where 14,000 men had been on strike since September 23 of the previous year. Violence ensued and the strike was demanded. On April 29 the striking miners clashed with the state militia near Trinidad, Colo., and twenty-five persons were killed or burned to death in a fire which followed. President Wilson ordered federal troops to the scene. It was not until September 15 that the strikers and their employers accepted President Wilson's offer for a settlement of their dispute, but his plan was rejected. On the last day of November the president named a commission of three, headed by Seth Low, to deal with the strike. Shortly after the strike was declared off.

On April 1 the coal mines of Ohio were closed down on account of the failure to unite on an agreement as to a basis of payment to supersede the one already in use. On the following day the Yorkshire coal miners, to the number of 120,000 men, went on strike to support their demand for a minimum wage. June 12 a strike among the West Virginia coal miners, which had begun on since the previous September, was declared off. The miners wailing recognition of the union in order to obtain other important concessions. On July 17 the federal board of mediation and conciliation again proved its ability as a peace-maker. The engineers and firemen of ninety-eight western railroad accepted the mediation of the board.

Progress in Science and Discovery.

One of the most startling achievements in recent surgery is the restoration of paralyzed muscular tissue by the repair and replacement of injured nerves through experiments conducted by Prof. Robert Kennedy of Glasgow, Scotland. In May a two-wheeled gyroscopic motor car created considerable excitement in London.

It is the invention of Paul Schellowsky. In September the railroad rate case showed increased activity. The roads east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac again petitioned the Interstate commerce commission for permission to advance freight rates 5 per cent, and the commission consented to reopen the case.

The commission granted the increase, with certain exceptions, on December 18. On the last day of November the president named a commission of three, headed by Seth Low, to deal with the strike. Shortly after the strike was declared off.

On April 1 the coal mines of Ohio were closed down on account of the failure to unite on an agreement as to a basis of payment to supersede the one already in use. On the following day the Yorkshire coal miners, to the number of 120,000 men, went on strike to support their demand for a minimum wage. June 12 a strike among the West Virginia coal miners, which had begun on since the previous September, was declared off. The miners wailing recognition of the union in order to obtain other important concessions. On July 17 the federal board of mediation and conciliation again proved its ability as a peace-maker. The engineers and firemen of ninety-eight western railroad accepted the mediation of the board.

Progress in Science and Discovery.

One of the most startling achievements in recent surgery is the restoration of paralyzed muscular tissue by the repair and replacement of injured nerves through experiments conducted by Prof. Robert Kennedy of Glasgow, Scotland. In May a two-wheeled gyroscopic motor car created considerable excitement in London. It is the invention of Paul Schellowsky. In September the railroad rate case showed increased activity. The roads east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac again petitioned the Interstate commerce commission for permission to advance freight rates 5 per cent, and the commission consented to reopen the case.

The commission granted the increase, with certain exceptions, on December 18. A delegation of railroad presidents visited President Wilson at the White House and laid before him the unsatisfactory situation which confronted American roads. The president was sympathetic, but expressed his confidence in the Interstate commerce commission to regulate the matter satisfactorily.

On September 23 Secretary McAdoo aroused great interest in banking circles by announcing his intention to withdraw government patronage and assistance from national banks known to be hoarding currency or demanding excessive interest.

In October the court dismissed all but one of the government's charges in its suit to dissolve the Atlantic steamship trust. Final argument in the suit to dissolve the Steel trust was made at Philadelphia, and the discussion of increased railroad freight rates was resumed before the Interstate commerce commission.

At the close of the session on November 2 the Democratic majority in the house of representatives was reduced from 147 to 25, although the Democratic majority in the senate was increased from 19 to 15. Constitutional amendments giving the suffrage to women were carried in Nevada and Oregon, and in California, Colorado, in Missouri the so-called "rail crew" law passed by the legislature was rejected.

federacy in the national cemetery at Arlington was unveiled June 4.

On June 13 England captured the international polo championship at Meadowbrook, N. Y. It was made public on June 24 that Mrs. Morris K. Jesup had bequeathed $18,000 to the American Museum of Natural History as a bequest to the extent of $5,000,000. That, also, was the day on which the reconstructed Kiel canal was opened by the German Kaiser. The International Eucharistic congress opened at Lourdes, France, July 25.

On September 3 Cardinal Giacomo della Chiesa, archbishop of Bologna, was elected pope to succeed the late Pius X. The new pontiff assumed the title of Benedict XV. The government of Chile, made public October 8, announced a record wheat harvest of 892,000,000 and a normal corn crop of 2,676,000,000. The world's championship series was won October 13 by the Boston National league baseball team.

On October 14 one of the most comprehensive industrial schemes on record was formulated by bankers at New York city involving the raising by the banks of a fund of $150,000,000 which was to be loaned upon warehouse receipts for cotton. On the last day of October the Panama canal was closed for traffic a second time on account of an earth slide into Calumet.

On November 6 the Chicago stockyards were closed on account of an epidemic of foot-and-mouth disease which had already led the federal authorities to establish quarantine in effect against the shipment of cattle. Later this prohibition was extended to several other states. The so-called "house of governors" met in its seventh annual session at Madison, Wis., November 10.

After a period of suspension covering 15 weeks, brought about by the war, the cotton exchanges of New York and New Orleans opened for trading November 16. The New York stock exchange, which was closed at the breaking out of hostilities, was reopened for restricted trading November 23. A red-letter event in the history of American athletics was the formal opening of the annual Yale football season, November 21. The annual Yale-Harvard football contest resulted in a Harvard victory, 35 to 0.

Among the Eminent Dead.

The record of those who have passed out of the world's activities during the year is of unusual length, and it contains the names of many who had achieved distinction.

Among the famous men who died in January were Dr. S. Weir Mitchell of Philadelphia, scientist and novelist; Dr. Edward Spitzka, alienist and neurologist; Count Yoko Ito, admiral of the Japanese fleet; Shelby M. The Liver Regulates the Body

A Sluggish Liver Needs Care. Someone has said that people with Chronic Liver Complaint should be shut up from humanity for they are pessimists and see through a "glass darkly." Why? Because mental states depend upon physical states. Biliousness, Headaches, Dizziness and Constipation disappear after using Dr. King's New Life Pills. 25c at your Druggist.

BRAIN LEAKS.

By F. S. LOYD:

Simon Heath says it would help some if we had more soft spots in our hearts and fewer soft spots in our heads.

Dick Crowe says once in awhile when you get a whiff of a man's breath you wonder why it doesn't catch fire when he lights his pipe.

David Byrd says no man who ever tried to hook his wife's dress up the back can go around bragging that he never made a mistake.

Uncle Abe Deboe says we all know that when the other fellow is talking he makes a lot of noise without saying anything.

Newt Dollar says when a woman gets a new set of furs the fact that the temperature is 90 in the shade, wont prevent her from wearing them down town.

Sam Howerton says the sweetest death is to die by freezing to death. You just simply become numb and go to sleep and that is all there is to it.

G. W. Reid says to drown yourself is sweetest death of any.

Frank Clift says to bleed to death is the sweetest of them all. But there are quite a number of us who would like to have the information from any one who has experienced either of the above mentioned.

Miss Anna Lewis, who was writing a composition on "Tennis Playing" said: "Papa, what are Tennis Rackets made of?"

"Well, daughter," said her father, "to tell
